

Lap Naps

Our fur family sticks to us through hot and cold. In winter, they keep us warm when nighttime San Diego temperatures plummet to the mid-forties, and in summer they dutifully warm our already warm laps. They're not about to allow variations in the weather to disturb their creature comfort.

